Report of Superintendent of Schools

To the New Castle School Board:

I herewith submit to you my twentieth report as superintendent of your schools. Enclosed will be the statistical report of the year 1948-1949, and the pupil enrollment in our local school, as well as a list of the pupils attending the Portsmouth public school during the current year.

The present year began Wednesday, September 7, 1949 with an enrollment of 37. Four pupils have entered since, making the present enrollment 41. There are, at the time of this report, 31 New Castle pupils in Portsmouth, five of whom are in the senior class.

The Portsmouth district sends us reports of the work done by our graduates in its schools. The individual parents also receive reports. I am sure the parents are pleased with the results shown. The work is consistently satisfactory and speaks well for our teachers.

The report of Mrs. Lindsey, our school nurse, is enclosed. This year special care is to be given to hearing defects. Unless this is done every year or two, children suffering from hearing difficulties may be unnecessarily handicapped. When defects are found, they are reported to the teacher and also to the parent, for correction if possible. A new eye testing program is also planned. This consists of an improved set of cards which test sight under varying conditions. The results of several tests give a more accurate diagnosis than was formerly possible.

Our music and art work is proving a pleasure for our children. It serves to offer a more closely parallel course to that of the Portsmouth children with whom our pupils will be working in later years.

With the reduction of total state aid for education from $2,000,000.00 to $400,000.00, New Castle's aid was reduced from $920.64, to $819.53. This was not serious, but does mean that the difference must be made up by local taxation. By order of the legislature, a new formula for distribution is to be developed. This leaves us in an uncertain position since we have no idea what state aid, if any, may be forthcoming next year.

The lower grade room in the school is crowded. If New Castle follows the usual trend of enlarged attendance, this condition will grow increasingly difficult. As the larger grades move up through the school, both rooms will be faced with the same situation. Modern education demands larger rooms. Space is now allowed for individual work by pupil groups. These groups should be able to move into their own section of the classroom for study together. A library corner also is considered a necessity in all classrooms.

Each room should be provided with a coat room as it is not well for clothing to be hung in classrooms. A crowded room adds to the difficulty of teaching three grades in the same room, since the recitations of one group must necessarily interfere somewhat with the study of other groups. A large room, with the reciting group at a distance from the other, would aid materially toward better progress of all pupils.

An activity room is an essential to a modern school program. A suitable physical education program should be installed in all schools. This activity room would give opportunity for larger units of work. One good means of testing the ability to get meaning from that which is read is to "act out" the thought of the passage read. It is in the activity room that the teachers can best study the individual characteristics of the children. The child who is socially maladjusted can be discovered best when engaged in informal activity. The self-centered child will reveal this tendency while at play or while engaged in a definite project in which he must work with others. The recitation period is, of necessity, more of an individual process. Children must be taught to work together. It is by this group activity that they learn to adjust to each others characteristics. Although methods are informal, it is one of the best means by which the teachers studies the individual child. Each child has the right to be treated differently from any other child. The means by which one child learns may be far different from that by which another learns.

Exercises in which the whole school participates are of value. For this purpose an activity room is essential.

The time has come when a new school for New Castle should be carefully considered. A two-Class-room building with an activity room, suitable provision for physical education, and visual education would be the minimum required. To repeat, this room is all for development of the pupil. It is not a purposeless playroom, but an integral part of the school program. It leads to social adjustment of the pupils, to a more definite understanding of the pupil by the teacher and by his fellow pupils. Such experience is essential if we are to aid a child to take his part among his fellows.

For an efficient school board, for purposeful teachers and for a fine group of pupils, I wish to express my appreciation. It is a pleasure to work in New Castle.

Respectfully submitted,

ROY W. GILLMORE,

Superintendent of Schools.
